FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Commercial Real Estate Group Offers Clients Complete Site Overview

Jacksonville, Fla. – June 10, 2005 – H & T Consultants of Jacksonville, Florida announces their commercial real estate division, H & T Commercial Services, Inc. The commercial services division provides commercial real estate services for businesses in need of office space, land development, site evaluation and due diligence for new construction, market analysis to support business growth requirements, and insight and market perspective for complete property evaluation.

H & T Commercial Services assists developers, owners, investors, and tenants in finding the right property with a complete site overview. The coupling of H & T Commercial Services and H & T Consultants, their civil engineering and planning division, provides clients a complete site overview from an engineering and land development perspective, while also applying real estate and market insight for Northeast Florida.

H & T Commercial Services, Inc. was founded by Lee Thompson and Stanley Hill. Thompson and Hill met in 1998 and have actively pursued their dream of business ownership by applying their vast experience in engineering and real estate services coupled with their entrepreneurial spirit. “Our extensive real estate knowledge assures our clients the most comprehensive demographic and site evaluation available while also providing numerous economic benefits of premier site location,” says Lee Thompson.

Cont.

Founding H & T Consultants in 2002, they have experienced business growth in civil engineering, site selection and site due diligence services. Clients seeking comprehensive demographic and site evaluation services include Bank of America, Cracker Barrel Restaurants, Mercantile Bank, and Washington Mutual Bank.
